Dedication

We, the 1959 Senior Class of Medfield, dedicate this yearbook with gratitude to our town which, with loyalty and generosity, has supported and encouraged us through our high school days.

“All the world’s a stage,
And all the men and women merely players.
They have their exits and their entrances;
And one man in his time
plays many parts,
His acts being seven ages.”

From SHAKESPEARE'S
As You Like It
Act II, Scene VII

To the Class of 1959
It is a pleasure to congratulate you on the accomplishment of your High School career.

I can only wish you good health and happiness in your everyday life and I pray for your success in whatever field you choose, whether it be advanced schooling, civilian employment or military service.

Be true to yourself and to the ideals of your family and community.
Good luck to you always.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

To be successful in any field of endeavor, much is demanded of the individual. One must work diligently, be honest with himself and be prepared to sacrifice many things. The most important ingredient of success is you. If you have the desire and are industrious you will be successful.

My sincere best wishes to all of the members of the Class of 1959 now and always.

In September, 1955, our class faced a great challenge—high school. With mingled feelings we met our homeroom teachers, Mr. F. T. Frank and Mr. J. H. Morris, and settled down to the Herculean task of being Freshmen. Our homeroom teachers for the next three years were: Mr. J. E. Morris, Mr. R. Tiffany; Mrs. Potter, Miss Ryan; Mrs. Pederzini, Mrs. Warburton. We have appreciated their able assistance. Officers during our high school years were as follows:

1955-1956

President KEN SPENCER
Vice-President DON JOHNSON
Secretary ROBERTA EBURNE
Treasurer MIMI CALLACHAN

1956-1957

President PAUL DEWAR
Vice-President ROBERT IAFOLLA
Secretary WARREN HARRINGTON
Treasurer DON JOHNSON

1957-1958

President WILLIAM DUGAN
Vice-President HILARY NOWERS
Secretary PAULA KEIRSTEAD
Treasurer JOHN HORGAN

1958-1959

President WILLIAM DUGAN
Vice-President RAY Warburton
Secretary PAULA KEIRSTEAD
Treasurer JOHN HORGAN

In October, at the Junior-Freshman Frolic, we cowered in terror as the Juniors submitted us to such horrors as the Hen Party, the Marine Drill Team, and the Beauty Contest.

In the latter part of the year, we welcomed three new members, Ann Rhodes, Peggy Gaffney, and Dave Watt.

As Sophomores, we ordered class rings in March, and enjoyed the privilege of decorating for the Seniors' graduation in June.

Judy DeForest and Jackie Iafolla had left us, but the arrival of Laurie Brinckerhoff, Mike Corcoran, George Gagliani, Warren Harrington, and Jimmy Kingston more than filled the gap.

In our Junior year, we held a Mardi Gras, breaking the time-honored tradition of the Junior-Freshman Frolic. It was every bit as successful, with the Freshmen in costume performing dances.

To the disappointment of the rest of the class, Paul Dewar, Butch Duval, Peggy Gaffney, Warren Harrington, Bob Holt, James Kingston, and Ken Spencer were no longer with us. We welcomed Gretchen Gibbs, Butch Brady, and Kenneth Jodoin to our ranks.

With the help of the Seniors, in December we put on a Christmas Dance, which really embodied the spirit of the holidays. The Class held a Miss Medfield Hop in March. Janice Hutchins, a Senior, was awarded the honor although Carol Mills and Gussie Farrell proved strong competition.

On May 2, at our Junior Prom we enjoyed the music of Jeffrey Carleton and the beautiful decorations among which were a glittering chandelier and a bubble fountain. Dinner and more dancing at the Monticello contributed to a wonderful evening.

Later in the month at the Junior-Senior Banquet, the Seniors read their will, history and prophecy to us.

In June, Carol Keirstead, with Roberta Eburne as alternate, represented Medfield High School at Girls' State, and Lincoln Potter and Bradley Bowden did the same at Boys' State.

We began our Senior year minus Betty Alger, James Bennett, Carol Mills, Frank Travers, and Dave Watt; Greg Manning had joined us.

Much fun and a profit besides were obtained from a paper drive in October.

A beautiful Christmas tree, elves, and a Santa Claus were included in the decorations for the dance put on by the Seniors in December.

An equally memorable dance was put on in February by the Yearbook Staff to commemorate Valentine's Day.

With great anticipation our class is looking forward to Graduation Night during which both the commencement exercises and a reception will be held.

Our unforgettable years at Medfield High School will culminate in what we are certain will be one of the loveliest Senior Proms ever staged.

Joseph Santosuosso

Last week while I was reporting for the "Boston Traveler" on the opening of a new nuclear-powered electric plant, I ran into Joe Santosuosso, reactor designer. After the ceremonies he decided to spend some time observing how a reporter operated. He got his wish more quickly than he had anticipated for the phone rang immediately upon our entering my office and in a few moments we were on our way to get a story.

A fire had broken out in a bachelor apartment inhabited by Gussie Farrell and Judy Kelley who were being coaxed by Fire Chief, Ken Jodoin, to jump into a fire net. Judy, who was talking long-distance to Don Johnson between halves of the year's biggest basketball event, was finally carried out, phone in hand.

On phoning in our report, Joe and I were informed that Chris Perrin, star of the current hit, "Lovely Lady," and Dave Kempton, composer of the musical, were to arrive at Logan airport in three minutes. As we were to interview this famous pair when they landed, we needed the fastest taxi in town. Mike Corcoran was the answer to our prayer—we didn't drive, we flew! The plane hadn't arrived when we got to the airport and Joe needed a cup of coffee to calm his nerves; so we went to a nearby restaurant operated by Paul Scribner. He told us that the flight we were expecting had been canceled, so after Joe finished his coffee, we returned to the office to await further assignments.

We had only five minutes to rest before we took to the road again. A teachers' convention was being held at Vassar College where psychologists Ann Rhodes and Gretchen Gibbs would address such noted educators as Carol Belmont, Brad Bowden and Carol Keirstead. While talking with these former classmates, we learned that Jeanne Hamilton had also become a teacher, but was unable to attend because she had had another car accident on the way.

Back at the office, Joe and I read the latest edition of the paper which my secretary, Mimi Callachan, presented to us. While I looked at the sports page, Joe found a picture of Pete LeBlanc and his new Flare Missile. As usual I was interested in seeing how the Red Sox were doing and was happy to learn that they had won again thanks to the efficiency of their star shortstop Linc Potter. In the football previews, Coach Bill Dugan predicted that, with Bob Iafolla playing tackle and John Horgan playing guard, his team should have another successful season. The headlines however read, "SCHOOL CHUMS TIE 3 MINUTE MILE!!" and the school chums were none other than Greg Manning and Austin Smith who were running for the U.S. in the Olympic games at Los Angeles.

Suddenly I received a message that there was a private plane waiting for us at Logan ready to take off for parts unknown. We were to have a police escort to the airport and were happy to find state trooper, Butch Brady, ready to go. On boarding the plane, we found Mae Kingsbury was our stewardess. Having left the office in such a hurry we still didn't know where or why we were going, so I asked Mae if she knew. She told us that Laurrie Brinkerhoff, while doing some geology work in the Himalayas, had captured the abominable snowman. After Joe quieted down a little we noticed that we weren't the only passengers on the plane. Marie Knowles, a nurse, and Roberta Eburne, a social worker, were also part of the expedition. Marie was to help the doctors and Roberta was to determine whether or not it would be wise to introduce the snowman into modern society.

Upon arrival in Nepal we were met by Dr. Jim Lindberg, now a leading psychologist, his head nurse Hilary Nowers, and his secretary Paula Keirstead.

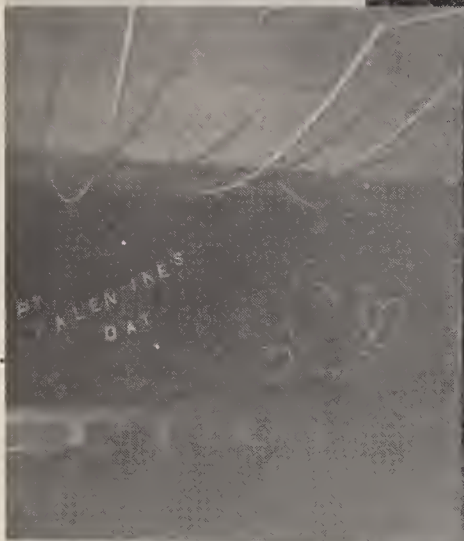

The snowman was a true giant, over nine feet tall and weighing almost $\frac{3}{4}$ of a ton.

Since there weren't any cages strong or large enough to hold him, the Marines had flown in Sergeant Pat Regan. Even though Pat was still only about 5' 6", he was a Marine, and, as a former Marine had told us, that makes all the difference in the world. When Pat walked up to the snowman, the poor creature covered its eyes and ran off howling as if he were about to be killed. Actually it wasn't that he was afraid of Pat as much as that he was blinded by the glare from all Pat's medals.

After getting the story from Laurie, we headed back to the states and stopped in Salt Lake City, Utah, at the new Federal Science Insitute designed by Ray Warburton. Bill Warburton is in charge of the physics program at the Institute while Linda Cain heads the Department of Physical Therapy. Naturally Joe wanted to look around so we went inside. Less than five minutes later we ran into another Medfieldite, Anne Hull, head receptionist. After chatting awhile we left, knowing that our former classmates had everything in full control.

Once back in Boston, I decide to go shopping, so I dragged Joe over to Jordan Marsh where Jane Anderson is Chairman of the Board. I couldn't pass up the opportunity of seeing Jane and exchanging notes on current gossip, so we went up to her roof-top office. While there we found that Nathan Nye, the Elvis Presley of this new generation, had just released another record, selling nearly one and a half million copies in less than two days.

After our gab session I woke Joe, who had fallen asleep on a couch and was snoring up a storm. We went back to the office and rested up a bit before Joe returned to his plant. We were both thoroughly exhausted but extremely happy and very proud of our M.H.S. graduates.

Last Will and Testament

Carol Belmont

Linda Cain

Roberta Eburne

Know All Men By These Presents, That We, The Senior Class, of Medfield High School in the County of Norfolk and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, being of sound mind, do hereby make this our last will and testament, hereby revoking all wills heretofore made by us.

After the payment of our just debts and funeral charges, We bequeath and devise as follows, viz:

Item

1. To Billy Carr, Mike Corcoran leaves 99 speeding tickets and many absent excuses for his senior year.
2. Roberta Eburne bequeathes her "ability to worry" to Patty McDermott.
3. Butch Brady and Bill Dugan leave Carole Duest and Judy Flanagan to the eligible junior boys.
4. To Jim Stubblebine, Jim Lindberg leaves his way with the girls.
5. Judy Kelley and Anne Hull leave their book of dirty basketball rules to Donna Mailing.
6. John Horgan bequeathes his real "Irish" temper and an extra "pack" of cigarettes to Norma Baker.
7. To Pete Etter and Ritchie Stuart, Jeanne Hamilton and Marie Knowles leave advice on how to disrupt class.
8. Paul Scribner leaves his self-centered ways to Marcia McDonald.

9. Ray and Bill Warburton, Ann Rhodes, and Gretchen Gibbs leave their ability for reading tombstones in the dark to the romantically inclined.
10. "Swivel Hips" Kingsbury leaves her walk to Pam Manning.
11. Mimi Callachan leaves a bottle of vanishing pills to each of Mike's old girl friends.
12. Janie Anderson and Pat Regan leave their title of class clowns to Beverly Owens and Kenny Simpson.
13. To all you Yankees, Laurie Brinckerhoff leaves directions for getting to Dixie.
14. Nancy Smith and Judy Bullard leave advice about the Medway boys to Gail Brown.
15. Bob Iafolla leaves his position on the football team to Bruce Simpson.
16. Chris Perrin leaves her French III book to Miss Smith.
17. Carol Clougherty leaves her "meek" disposition to Mary Alyward.
18. Carol Keirstead bequeathes her code for righteous living to Pam Petrie.
19. Ken Jodoin leaves one bag of dried out jokes to George Gagliani.
20. Greg Manning leaves the title of his favorite song "Somebody Up There Likes Me" to a tall junior.
21. Hilary Nowers leaves her happy-go-lucky nature to Barbara Stevens.

22. Austin Smith passes on his knack for leading the track pack to Bobby Bois.
23. Don Johnson leaves a censored autographed cast.
24. Paula Keirstead and Linc Potter leave one well used parking area to Bobby Marshall and Carol Bois.
25. Brad Bowden leaves his managers mop.
26. Eddie Hinkley leaves one well used shotgun to the teachers so they can keep better control of their classes.
27. Carol Belmont was going to leave a few "dirty digs" for everyone, but decided to keep them for future use.
28. Joe Santosuosso leaves his Lady Shick to Willy Catenacci.
29. Nathan Nye leaves his harem to Freddie Davis.
30. Gussie Farrell leaves Ruth Ann Hardy some hints on how to throw a "real wild" party.
31. Pete LeBlanc leaves the chem closet in ruins.
32. Linda Cain leaves her "Little Herman" jokes to some aspiring freshman.
33. David "Hudnut" Kempton leaves his new formula, Xium Peroxide, to the "Blonde" Brigade.

34. To Mrs. Warburton, we leave one robot to perform the morning exercises.
35. To Mrs. Pederzini, we bequeath a book of "interesting" composition titles.
36. To "Shop" Morris, we leave an empty study hall to quiet his nerves.
37. To Mrs. Luttazi and her girls, we leave the right to use the girls' locker room . . . occasionally!
38. To Miss O'Brien, we leave a book entitled "How to Change the Habits of Your Students."
39. To Mr. Cuoco, we leave an automatic page flipper so he can keep two pages ahead of his "Solid Geometry" class.
40. To Miss Smith, we leave a revolutionized cooling system to keep the students awake.
41. To Mrs. Cobb, we leave two models so that there will be more male interest in the art class.
42. To Mr. Keyes, the Senior Class leaves this advice, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."
43. To Mrs. Potter, we leave a book of anecdotes to add spice to her unusual stories.
44. To Mrs. Richardson, The Senior Class leaves a king-size coffee urn and the idea that students would like a "break" too.

45. To Mr. Hersee, we leave the official copyrights to "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."
46. To Mr. Dargan, we leave a pair of basketball shorts (a size larger) for the next student-faculty game.
47. To "Coach" Morris, we leave some polish for his "World's Greatest Lover" cup.
48. To Mr. Mains, we leave a donkey for that all important speed in rounding up detention students.
49. To Mr. Blake, the Senior Class leaves the architectural plans for the ideal high school.
50. To Mr. Harrington, we leave a pair of diapers and a bow and arrow so he can play Cupid with the couples in the corridor.
51. To the Juniors, we leave permission to get dismissed from school for pictures.
52. To the Sophomores, we leave the advice—It doesn't pay to be "too" smart.
53. To the Freshmen, we leave one million and one ways to skip classes and raise a general ruckus.

We, the undersigned, do hereunto set our hand and seal and declare the foregoing instrument to be our Last Will and Testament.

With the worldly status of Juniors, we entered school again. We had the pleasure of initiating the freshmen in a Festival that had an exotic flavor.

With the seniors we held a gayla Christmas Dance with a huge tree and festive lights decorating the auditorium.

In March, we carried on the new custom of holding a Miss Medford Dance.

In the setting of a southern plantation we held our Junior Prom on April 3. Late in May we presented the Seniors with a banquet and thus closed another school year.

Having earned at last the prestige of upperclassmen, we returned to another year of high school.

In January we held a semi-formal dance which was an enjoyable success.

This year we also purchased our school rings which distinguish us as students of Medfield High.

Anticipating our first year in high school we entered Medfield High School in September. Most of the year was taken up in acquainting ourselves with school routine and settling to our business.

With our respected elders, the juniors, we put on a Festival in November. Under their direction we presented folk dances from different foreign countries.

National Honor Society

C. Keirstead, R. Warburton, G. Gibbs, A. Rhodes.

The Medfield Chapter of the National Honor Society was organized in the spring of 1958. Induction ceremonies for Medfield's first members were held on May 23, 1958. Acceptance into this society is the highest honor that may be accorded to a student at Medfield High School.

Students are nominated first by Scholarship and then evaluated on the qualities of Character, Leadership and Service by the Honor Society Council composed of four faculty members and the Principal. Final approval of each candidate rests with the affirmative vote of ninety per cent of the faculty.

The initial group accepted into the Society consisted of three members of the Class of 1958: James Bois, Patrick Harris and Janice Hutchins; four members of the Class of 1959: Gretchen Gibbs, Carol Keirstead, Ann Rhodes and Ray Warburton; and one member of the Class of 1960 accepted as a probationary member, Barbara Stevens. Advisor to this group is Mrs. Pederzini, chairman of the faculty council.
